

Ethical procurement

Our ethical procurement approach is embedded in our supply chain procurement and management. As a buyer of goods and services we have a responsibility for the supply chains from which these goods and services come into our organisation. We will take in to account ethical as well as commercial and technical factors when considering which suppliers to partner with.